

We modify timber – and we enhance it

Our precision-controlled heat tempering process transforms wood into a superior, high performance material. By refining its structure at a cellular level, we enhance durability, stability, and resistance to external elements. This means fewer defects, less maintenance, and a longer lifespan, ensuring our timber meets the demands of modern construction and design.

Heat Tempered, Nature Perfected.

The heat tempering process at Imbue enhances the wood's natural beauty while providing it durability and stability. By carefully controlling temperature and humidity, we unlock the full potential of timber, increasing its stability and resistance to environmental factors. Our advanced modification process is free from harsh chemicals, preserving the integrity of the wood while delivering superior performance.

Rapidly Renewable.

Responsibly Grown. Real Impact.

Sustainability is at the heart of Imbue. By focusing on a fast growing, responsibly sourced New Zealand Radiata and FSC® certified forestry, we ensure a renewable supply chain without compromising quality.

Why Choose Imbue Decking

Create a naturally beautiful, durable exterior space with Imbue Decking, made from rapidly renewable FSC® certified timber. Available in a reeded face or smooth dressed surface.

Unlike most hardwoods, Imbue Decking doesn't need predrilling, making it quick and easy to cut, fix, and finish, a favourite among both professional builders and DIY enthusiasts.
